

MISSIONLOCAL.

a news lab for everyone

Good Morning Mission!

by Lydia Chavez

June 08, 2014

It is 7 a.m, 60° and headed to 81,° but I don't know whether to believe it. Details for the next ten days are here and as you can see, it's weird weather ahead – warmer today and Monday and then in the coolish 60s again.

Planning ahead, Southern Exposure has a lot of interesting events around its Off Shore exhibit. One coming up is a Mission Creek excursion on the 13th – yep, that's Friday the 13th, but it's not like we're sending you into the Bermuda Triangle.

World Cup play starts on Thursday and you'll definitely want to follow the Guardian on this.

Heidi McDowell's Sense of Place exhibit at ArtZone461 closes soon so if you haven't seen it, it's time to walk over and take a look.

Enjoy a slow and lazy Sunday. – Lydia